Sojourner Truth Parsons, Sean Steadman, Veronika Pausova, 11R, through 26 March

Eschewing lofty curatorial pretensions, 11R presents a group show of three young painters who simply belong together. Steadman's abstractions collage thickly layered oil, smooth flourishes, and paper with a smattering of starbursts throughout. Parsons's massive and splashy scene of two friendly dogs with bright pink tongues commands serious presence amid the show's suite of relatively small works. Pausova stands out, with her playful paintings that depict mysterious scenes in which highly rendered spiders, tetras, and tulips float in colourful geometric fields. Published online on 3 March 2017
